AMUSEMENT NOTES

"Rory of The Hills" at Barre Opera House Tomorrow.

Bernard Daly, the famous singing Irish comedian, will appear at the opera house tomorrow in the great romantic Irish drama "Rory of The Hills." The cast comprises some of the ablest exponents of Irish drama and no expense has been spared to make the production a memorable one. Bernard Daly, who heads that company, is a magnetic handsome and youthful comedian who has already made his historic mark in the companies of many leading stars. He is the possessor of a phenomenally high and pure tenor voice and rouses his audience to enthusiasm when he sings.

the many charming Irish ballads which occur frequently throughout the play. Among the ballads which he sings may be mentioned "Killarney," "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," "The Last Rose of Summer," "Honora" and "Molly O." Miss Virginia Carvel, who has been engaged to play Nora in "The Last Rose of Summer," is a clever and exceptionally pretty ingenue well known and popular throughout the length and breadth of the country. The other characters are in able hands, and a car-load of scenery and effects, all combined, makes this one of the most interesting and charming entertainments that will visit our city this season.

MONTPELIER

H. J. Finn, who said he lived in New York City and that he had just finished work for the Central Vermont railroad, was before Judge Harvey in Montpelier city court yesterday on the charge of intoxication. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5, with costs of $6.20, which he didn't pay and went to jail for twenty days.

The chancery case of E. Fernandez vs. P. Fernandez which was heard before E. M. Harvey, as special master, is to be reopened in order that certain evidence may be submitted as to the amount of capital invested by the partners. Referee Harvey has announced his findings of facts, which were that there was a partnership. This is in favor of the orator who brought suit claiming that he had been in partnership with his brother but which was denied by P. Fernandez. The hearing for the further testimony will occupy Monday.

Fred Munson, who is employed at Montpelier Junction, was brought to Hospital yesterday suffering from the effects of an injury received when a heavy door from the round house fell on his back and hips, bruising him considerably. Munson was injured in such a manner that he was unable to walk, and it is probable that he will be confined to the hospital for some little time. The bruises and contusions on his back will make it impossible for him to walk for several days. No bones were broken, neither was he paralyzed in the least, which is most fortunate as the door was extremely heavy.

The report of W. P. Dillingham special master appointed by United States court to ascertain the facts in the case of Michael Pembroke vs. V. W. Jewett, brought to determine the priority of an invention of a patent used in polishing machines, was argued before United States court in Burlington this week by H. C. Shurtliff for the orator and J. H. Senter for the defendant, the questions before the court being certain law points created by the report. The report of the master appeared to favor of the orator Pembroke in that he reduced the invention to use before the defendant.

Who Will Claim Them?

Letters remaining unclaimed for at the Barre post office for the week ending February 25, 1909, were as follows:

BLESSING TO MANY PEOPLE

Prescription Highly Recommended for Elderly Folks

RELIEVES WEAK KIDNEYS

Gives This Simple Home Remedy, and Tells How to Prepare it if You Have Urinary or Bladder Trouble or Rheumatism.

This is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weakenings of some of the brightest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients, and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments prove this simple mixture effective in rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful scalding and discolored urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of medicine should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making this up.

OFFICERS' CHARADE.

One of the Company Was an Expert at the Game.

A general arrived from St. Petersburg in a garrison town in the interior of Russia to hold an inspection of the troops. After the review he stepped into the officers' mess room, where he noticed on the counter a row of bottles, to which, instead of usual labels, white tickets, with a single letter of the alphabet on each, were affixed. The bottles stood in rank and file and in alphabetical order.

"What does this mean?" the general asked the lieutenant who was showing him around.

"That is an officers' charade, your excellency," replied the officer, rather embarrassed.

The general continued his inquiries and elicited the following information: "Each bottle contains a different kind of liquor. At the meeting of the officers' club one of us mixes some of these varieties in a glass so that the initials spell a name, and the older and more experienced members of the club after tasting it guess what it is composed of and name the word intended."

"Very original idea," remarked the general. "And are you able to make a guess of that kind?"

"If it is your excellency's pleasure, I will try," the lieutenant replied.

The general went to the counter and mixed a glass, while the officer stood at the other end of the room with his face to the wall.
